Rifle Tuning For Optimal Performance

Part 1

by Jack Neary

Jack Neary, NBRSA Eastern Region Director, Benchrest Hall of Fame member, multi-time member of the US World benchrest team and all-around great guy, explains how to tune a rifle with Lapua brass and Vihta Vuori powder along with other shooting tips, which are very valuable to reloaders. This series of articles recaps his video series which you can find on the internet at youtube.com.

How to get your rifle to shoot to its potential. It can get frustrating to be at a match and have your rifle just not shoot well. The Lapua case is really where the process starts and how you prepare it. Website information is hap-hazard in content, so it's difficult to get good information on the net. Neck turning is very important to brass preparation. Following the advice of Bill Forrester, another Benchrest Hall of Fame shooter, "Cut the brass thin to win". I had been turning his brass at the time to .0085, to which Bill said that was okay, but suggested .0081 would be better. My neck was a .262. Bill said if I really wanted my gun to shoot better, he recommended turning the cases .0081-.0083. Although my initial concern was that was a lot of clearance on the neck, I prepped cases at both my original .0085 and others at .0081. At my next match I shot a .1632 agg at 100-yards with the brass prepped to .0081. I stashed away the brass as and made up new brass for the next match -- that years' Super Shoot. Unfortunately, my aggregates hovered around .2500; a far cry from the tiny .1632 of the previous match. Flummoxed, I spoke with the now late Charlie Delasandro, who at the time was a retired machinist. Charlie measured this new lot of brass and noted that it was turned to .0086, when I thought it had been turned to .0081. It was my practice brass which had been turned to .0081 and where the small aggs were shot. I spent the following weekend back at Kelbly's testing brass at .0081 and .0085, where I confirmed what Bill Forrester had said. The gun did indeed shoot the smaller groups with the .0081 case preparation. There is a difference. I suggests that if you have time, to forget about the thousandth or 1/2-thousandth total clearance, try to have your loaded round to have .002 or more clearance. I currently use a.263 neck with a boat tail bullet. My loaded rounds measure .2602 at the neck. Having more clearance is going to help you.

I don't suggest using a ball mike to measure thickness because it can be less reliable than a micrometer. Verify your thickness with a micrometer and measure at the pressure ring in the neck after the bullet is seated; this is the litmus test. For safety, you should be doing this when making up new brass.

A couple things I learned along the way about prepping brass and maintaining it:

1. I experimented with not cleaning the primer pocket thinking it was not necessary. My aggs suffered at this time, but I attributed it to other items. At that year's East West match in St Louis, I discovered some of my primers were recessed and some were flat. To resolve this, I started taking the Sinclair primer pocket square reamer and making sure all my primer pockets were uniform. I then shot a .1812 agg which I hadn't been able to do in some time. So it definitely makes a difference to have your primer pockets all squared and at the same depth. Your ignition is so important in this game, just as it is in rimfire. Any inconsistency will show up on your target.

2. Brass Trimming: Dave Bruno does all my gunsmithing. For a while we shared a Henrickson 1510 reamer. When we did not concentrate on the brass length it could end up measuring 1.502, 1.504 or even 1.498. It varied but it got within .010 of the trim length for that reamer; which is not good. Resolution: I got my own reamer. Upon further experimentation I discovered that trimmed brass shot better not trimmed. So my point is to do the work on the brass as it is very important. Even if you think a few thousandths doesn't matter, it will.

On behalf of this year's US Team who competed in St Louis I would like to thank all of our corporate as well as individual sponsors and donors. Over $20,000 was contributed in team clothing, equipment and yes cash to help offset shooter expenses. Thank You again for your support.

Arizona Benchrest Shooters State Champion Conclusion

We would like to thank all the shooters who came out on November 7-8, 2015 to the SP-Unl-5 Arizona State Championships. This match was part 2 of the Arizona State Championships, and combined with the LV-HV AZ State Championships that we hosted in October, 2015 to create 3 Gun and 4 Gun Aggs. Thirty-four shooters came out, including some new faces and some that we hadn't seen for a while.

Following last month's rain, we were happy to see the sun shining both Saturday and Sunday. Unfortunately, the wind decided to take the place of the rain. It was windy enough that Saturday's competition was held back for an hour while we waited for the wind to calm down a little. In fact, Wunderground.com clocked wind gusts of over 30 miles per hour on Ben Avery Range on Saturday! Towards the afternoon, things finally calmed down to get some pretty decent groups.

On Sunday, the heavy gusts were gone, but shooters had to face some decent headwinds that made getting a small group tricky. After the early morning passed, the wind became much more accommodating and we saw some nice groups, like George Lozano's 0.121" small group with his unlimited rifle at 200 yards.

In the end we had new shooter, James Coulter take the Unl5 Grand Agg with a 0.1587" agg, a very nice size considering the conditions. Meanwhile, Lou Murdica took the Sporter Grand Agg with a 0.3154" agg. This gave Lou enough of an edge to get him in the lead in the 3-Gun Agg with a 0.3170" Agg, which was just a little smaller than Gary Ocock's 0.3187" 3-Gun Agg. However, Gary came ahead when you combine in the Unl5 Aggs, giving Gary a 0.2848" 4-Gun Grand Agg, which was a convincing lead.

Even though we did not have an official 2-Gun for SP-Unl5, we want to recognize the Junior shooters that came out this month; Tony DeBacco, Angelina Gonzalez, and Garrett Atkins. Tony DeBacco took Unofficial High Junior with a 0.3857" 2-Gun Agg.

We know a lot of Unlimited Shooters are looking forward to next month's Unl5-Unl5 Invitational. We have had great feedback on the Unlimited matches, and we hope you will be able to join us this time around too. Even if you do not have a rail gun, bring your bag gun out and have some fun!

2015 Mississippi Valley Regional

We had a fantastic turnout for the Mississippi Valley Regional this year! The sky was perfectly clear, but the temperatures started each day in the mid 30's. The cool temps, along with tricky winds and some heavy mirage made for a challenging shoot.

We started Saturday with LV 100. Jerry Wick won the aggregate with a .2536. He was followed by Terry Meyer with a .2720. Rounding out the top three was Bart Sauter with a .2786. Small group went to Jerry Wick who shot a .135 on the fourth target.

In the late afternoon we shot HV 100. Bart Sauter started out hot with a .104 which was the small group of the aggregate. Bart also won the aggregate with the weekends only teen aggregate of .1820, Jerry Wick was second with a .2698, and Matt Owens was third with a .2708.

Sunday morning was dry with cooler temperatures. In fact, the grass and flags were covered with a heavy frost when the shooting began. We started with HV 200. Jim Hart had it all dialed in. He won the aggregate with a .2519. Dean Stroud was second with a 2750, and Mike Schneidman finished third with a .2770. Dennis Boyet shot the small group again with a .241.

We finished with LV 200 and Chet Whitebread had everything working. He won the aggregate with a .2763. Second place was Jerry Wick with a .2866, and Joe Fesi finished third with a .2965. Jerry Wick had the small group with a .309 on the second target.

LV Grand Agg winner was Jerry Wick. He finished with an aggregate of .2701. Second place was Chet Whitebread with a .2876, and third place in the LV Grand Aggregate was Bart Sauter with a .2962. HV Grand Agg winner was Bart Sauter with a .2478. Ron Miller was second with a .2902 and Jim Hart finished third with a .3017.

The winner of the 2015 Mississippi Valley Regional was Bart Sauter with a .2720 grand aggregate. Second place was Jerry Wick with a .2919, third place was Chet Whitebread with a .2984, fourth was Ron Miller with a .3170 and fifth place went to Matt Owens with a .3193.

I want to thank everyone for making out to this match! We really appreciate everyone that made it. We have had a great year at BRRC and hope to see all of you and more again next year. I would also like to thank all of the folks that chipped in to help keep the match running smoothly. I really appreciate all of your help!

Land's End Benchrest

Purple Haze

Bud Schalles Wins Two & Three Gun, Larry White Wins Four-Gun

The season ended at Land's End Benchrest with the Purple Haze and with a bang, as shown on the cover picture. The Purple Haze is the 4-Gun conclusion and serves as the Light Varmint leg of the Land's End 4-Gun competition for the year. Back in May, the Heavy Varmint was Leg 1, the July match was the Unlimited 10-shot and Sporter legs and finally on October 3-4, 2015 we had a winner declared.

There were 36 shooters who gave chase to the win and as you can see, there were many "oldies but goodies" taking their turn at the yardage wins. Bud Schalles (match director for life from Northern Colorado Benchrest) took hold of the LV100 and would not let go until he topped Mel Klasi's LV200 yardage win of 0.2717 and won the LV Grand with a 0.2472. Along came Dave Tunbridge from Central Utah Benchrest (another match director for life) and won the HV100 with 0.1870. Now comes NBRSA's former Financial Officer, Jim Erickson to win the HV200 with 0.2565 and the HV Grand with 0.2515. It was great to see the changes as it kept everyone guessing. Alas, Bud Schalles had shot the smallest and won the Two Gun with 0.2716 as well as the Three Gun with 0.2648.

But wait! There's more! (sounding like a TV detergent salesman). Here comes "White-Hot" Larry White to win the Four Gun with a 0.2870. It's just been a Larry White year in 2015. When you're on fire like Larry's been all year, we'll it's just about as good as it gets.

Here's looking forward to 2016!

Thank you to all our participants. It was a lot of fun and the food was excellent. Our score team and target crew deserve a big thank you as well. Congratulations to Larry and Bud for winning the Four, Three & Two Guns as well as Jim, Dave & Mel on winning the yardages. Come back later this year as we start the process all over again!

Ojai Valley Gun Club Barry Moss Wins 600-Yard Two Gun

November 15, 2015

We had another great match in November with temperatures hovering around 30F and clear. By the time the targets were put away and the shooters were having lunch, it was raining.

Our match director, Barry Bluhm, had a family emergency and called on Mike Leonard and Keith Cottrell to fill in. They did a fine job with the help of Heather Johnson in getting the registration completed and the match underway. We thank Nina in the stat house who entered all the data for the reports.

Barry Moss was the outstanding competitor placing first in all but one category with Bill Bonser and Mike Leonard putting pressure on. Keith Cottrell posted a fine 50-3X shooting his 6PPC. Check out our web site at <http://ojaibenchrest.org>.

7th Grape Harvest Grand Prix

Club de Tir du Castellas at La Fare Les Oliviers

Twenty three shooters gathered together October 10-11, 2015 to contest this Light & Heavy varmint match. Both days were sunny but the skies were active. A north wind called "mistral" accompanied the LV100 on the first morning and HV100 in the afternoon.

Sunday provided a south wind and rain which increased in intensity as the day progressed. We began Sunday with the HV200 and ended with LV200. After the award ceremony, a reception was offered to all participants before we left. A big thank you to all the shooters and especially to the volunteers of the club that once again made this event the best it could be.

Sahuaro 1000-Yard Benchrest
The Good, the Bad and the Ugly
by Dale Arenson

They stood stiff and straight, shifty eyes squinting in the sun under broad-brimmed hats. Squared off in a twelve-way standoff on the hard-packed desert floor. Coat-tails blowing in the dusty wind, itchy trigger fingers twitching, wondering who was going to shoot first.

No one spoke, and you could almost hear the haunting bullfighter music by Ennio Morriconi adding to the drama and the tension.

Of course, this was not a gunfight, and the treasure we were in a standoff for was not sacks of gold inside an unmarked grave, but the winning NBRSA plaques that match director Karl Hunstiger hands out every month at the Sahuaro 1,000 yard NBRSA match. Who needs sacks of gold anyway?

Who was going to shoot first... meaning who would get relays one and two. And the good, the bad, and the ugly was not the steely-eyed competitors, but the ever-changing conditions that sweep across the desert, destroying our aim and confounding our illusions of being able to anticipate the wind and mirage.

And the part about nobody talking. You can forget that. We are always chatting up a storm, having a good time and are always happy to see each other again since the last match. But let's get down to the action. When the guns come out and triggers are getting pulled.

The Good....

Relay One started with a high overcast and very light winds. Sometimes too light, when the flags would hang limp and the mirage would start to boil. But nobody complained because they knew it would only get worse.

The people in the pits could only see the flags at the 1,000-yard line, which at times did not even move.

The dust rising from the berm after bullet impacts would just hang in the air like a small localized fog until it dissipated and fell back to earth.

Needless to say, there was a lot going on with those bullets in their long, but quick journey to the targets. Still, the Relay One gang did a nice job of shooting good scores and groups.

In Light Gun, nine out of the twelve shooters all turned in sub-MOA aggregates, with nine groups being six inches or less. John Benz shot a 4.75" group which was the best of Relay One. Jerry Riesdorff had a 5.87", Mike Billotte posted a 5.0" and also won for score with a 142.

The Bad....

Relay Two, first heavy gun. The high thin clouds burned off and the wind started to pick up. It wasn't too bad, but it still had a definite effect on the scores and groups. Heavy Gun score winner was Bill Warner with a 253-1X, while Pat Billotte shot the single high target score of 90, and Jerry Riesdorff won for Heavy Group Aggregate with a 12.22".

Relay Three: After the pit change and the morning pit crew got their chance to step up to the benches and take on the conditions, it was still "The Bad". But hey, we can handle it! Well, sort of.

Back to Light Gun again. The wind was having great fun with us, giving us one condition during sighters and another during record. Lon Persun had a nice 5.62" group, for a 7.65" aggregate and Dale Arenson somehow shot the smallest group of the match with a 3.56", winning for Light Gun Aggregate with a 5.5". But just to show how much the wind was changing on us, he also had the lowest score! Those nice small groups were all over the target.

The Ugly....

Relay Four, Heavy Gun. Okay, we've seen worse, but compared to Relay One it seemed pretty ugly. Especially after we saw our results. More of the same of Relay Three, only higher wind speeds and some extreme direction changes. Frequently going from three o'clock to eight o'clock, then suddenly coming out of one o'clock. Constantly pulling tricks during record that we would not see during sighters.

In spite of that, Steve Everson managed to shoot the smallest single Heavy Gun group during relay four, an 8.06". How did he do that? While at the same time, some shooters, who will remain nameless for the sake of pity, had as much as 8, 14 and 18 shots off paper! Dale Arenson may have set a new record by having a higher score in Light Gun then he did in Heavy.

When the smoke cleared, we felt like we had been beaten up, but at least we learned something...Stay tuned for next month, maybe by then I will have figured out what we learned.

Mill Creek Rifle Club's Group Match

October 3-4, 2015

We held the last match of the season over the weekend. We had two shooters attending Mill Creek for the first time; Jim Shipley from Belton Missouri and Stefan Karlsson from Sweden. Stefan came home with me from St Louis to hunt deer with archery methods. Glad to have both gentlemen at our match. Richard Brensing was the winner of the LV100 aggregate. Randy Conrad, Dwayne Stafford, Kurtis Brown and Fred Martin were the top five. Small group .143 Randy Conrad.

Ron Miller was the winner of the HV100. Richard Brensing, Jim Hemmert, Jim Gardner and Fred Martin were the top five. Small group .143 Richard Brensing. After the match, everyone was invited to a barbecue dinner of ribs, brisket, pulled pork and chicken. The meal was provided by Don and Juanita Creech and prepared by Cuz It's Good BBQ. It was the highlight of the weekend. Enjoyed by all, 'Cuz it was Good!

Sunday morning was about the same weather as Saturday; chilly with wind in our face. Dee Myers was the winner of the HV200 yard aggregate. Dwayne Stafford, Richard Brensing, Kurtis Brown and Stefan Karlsson were the top five. Small group went of .272 went to Dee Myers.

Richard Brensing was the winner of the LV200 yard aggregate. Ron Miller, Don Creach, Mike McFarland and Dwayne Stafford were the top five. Small group .359 went to Ron Miller.

Richard Brensing won the HV Grand with Dwayne Stafford, Ron Miller, Mike McFarland and Don Creach as the top five.

Richard Brensing also won the LV Grand aggregate. Ron Miller, Jim Hemmert, Dwayne Stafford and Fred Martin were the top five.

Thank you for attending our matches this year. I wish you all a happy and healthy off-season. I hope to see you all next May.

Oak Hill Gun Club Say What?!

What do you say when a shooter matches, ties or beats a present world record? After 19 fellow shooters stood in awe we all wanted to know his secrets. What the wind condition, kind of action, whose barrel manufacture, whose bullet, scope on the rifle, trigger, cleaning procedure and do you really have a rabbits foot in your pocket? These were some of the most frequent questions. Well, there was much backslapping, way to go, good groups and other niceties, but down deep we were all a little envious. He just shot 5,5-shot groups better than some of us dream of.

Oak Hill Gun Club on September 27, 2015 held the last match of the year. It was a perfect day for shooting with light winds that were predictable, temps in the high 70's to low 80's with sun and clouds mixed. We had 2 new shooters: Travis Phillips and Robert Rehse. One factory gun shooter and 3 unlimited shooters as well as 15 regulars. What a mix; but we were able to keep fighting, cussing and spitting down to a minimum.

The HV100 yard aggregate of 0.1420 (possible record) was shot by Dean Ekstrom, followed by Harry Rowold, Jim Schmidt, Jerry Wick and Larry Rickertsen. Small group was by Larry Rickertsen with a 0.088.

The HV200 yard aggregate was won by Jim Schmidt with a 0.1922 followed by Larry Caston, Jerry Wick, Dean Ekstrom and Robert Jacobs. Small group was shot by Larry Caston with a 0.241.

The HV Grand belonged by Dean Ekstrom followed by Jim Schmidt, Harry Rowold, Jerry Wick and Larry Caston.

The Unlimited portion of this match was dominated by Jim Carstensen with a 100-yard agg of 0.1260 and 0.1796 at 200 yards. His grand was 0.1526. Jim als shot the smallest groups at both yardages for total domination. Not a bad showing for an "unproven" barrel.

The above match completes our year of benchrest shooting for 2015. A special thanks to Marvin for the target crew duties, David, Bud and Dennis for their measuring/statistical duties but the two people that make the match a success are Jerry King and Jim Schmidt. We hope you have a great relaxation between seasons. Let's all plan on 2016 being our best year ever! See you then.

Therefore allowing O.D. to be turned concentric with I.D. The tail-stock creates a horizontal inline support for the base of the case. Also allows the operator to keep both hands on the power screw driver or drill. This makes it very easy to control feed rate of the cutting operation, generating a very fine turned finish. Case holder drivers are designed to be the most gentle driver, yet providing an adequate hold.

South Dakota State & Butch Kimmell Memorial

Prairie Dog Target Club
August 29-30, 2015
by Mel Klasi

Seventeen competitors were present for the South Dakota State and Butch Kimmell Memorial. The temperature went from 70 to the mid 90's on Saturday and reached 100 on Sunday as we finished shooting. We had southerly winds and smoke from Oregon fires all weekend.

Jeff Anderson from Montana won the LV100 with Bill Pond second and Justin Young third. Bill Pond shot a 0.053 group but couldn't beat Justin Young's 0.049 for small group.

There were lots of small groups shot at 100 yards; the five smallest groups that were shot in the LV100 by various people agged 0.0842. For the LV200 the winds picked up so no screamers were shot. Paul Holland edged out Dan Dowling for the 200 yard agg with Rod Brown taking third. Small group was Terry Hettich's 0.300. Jeff Anderson won the LV grand with Bill Pond second and Paul Holland third. In the evening we enjoyed Don Deckert's famous Cream Can Stew which he always serves at the last match of the summer.

Sunday we started with the HV200. Bud Schalles was the HV200 winner with Rod Brown taking second and Dave Tunbridge third. Small group at 200 yards was Bill Pond's 0.313. The HV100 was won by Rod Brown with Bill Pond second and Heath Ferguson third. Small group at 100 yards was Bill Pond's 0.130. The HV grand agg winner was Rod Brown with Bill Pond second and Bud Schalles third. The Heavy Varmint completed the four gun for the year.

The winner of the two gun and of the Butch Kimmell Memorial trophy was Rodney Brown with a 0.3000 agg. Second place went to Bill Pond and Jeff Anderson was third. The Prairie Dog Target Club three gun for 2015 was won by Rodney Brown with Bill Pond second and Bud Schalles third. Rod Brown made it a sweep winning the four gun as well with Bud Schalles second and Bill Pond third.

Don Deckert did the scoring, Dave Tunbridge ran the computer, Bud Schalles was range officer and Vereen Forster and Kristen Pippert made up the target crew. Hope to see you all next spring for another great year of shooting.

Fall Finale at Shelby County Deer Hunters

October 17-18, 2015

It was a great weekend at the Shelby County Deer Hunters Association range for the end of the Eastern Region season. Twenty-seven shooters came together to test their skill--and tested they were. Several arrived on Thursday to set up their campers and ready themselves for the task ahead. By Friday afternoon friendships were renewed, tables drawn and the range was made ready for competition.

Saturday started with light winds and an overcast sky. The weatherman predicted 10 to 15 mph winds, but that would come in the afternoon. The Light Varmint 100 ended with Dale Dillingham winning the yardage shooting a .1974. Ted Heindselman came in second with a .2060 and Harley Baker third at .2290. Small group went to Dave Abbott with a blistering .066.

The Heavy Varmint 100 opened with a partly sunny sky and 10+ mph winds with gusts. The flags were going in several directions at once but when it was all done, Dale Dillingham led the charge by winning the yardage with a .2270. Following Dale was Jack Neary with a .2420 and Melvyn Newransky with a .2616. Pat Metcalf took small group with a hot .107.

Sunday morning was a beautiful sunny day with winds around 10 mph with the occasional gust of only the Good Lord knows how much. The range, with its fall colors in full parade, took the shooters on a roller coaster ride of change throughout the day. When the Heavy Varmint 200 was over, Dale Dillingham once again won the yardage with a .2349. If you have not been paying attention, Dale now has 3 yardages under his belt. Dale was followed by Harley Baker with a .2451 and Dominic Grunas with a .2572. Small group honors with to Dale Dillingham with a .229.

Dale's luck ran out in the final yardage of the day when Steve Theye of Benchright, LLC (see ad on page ???), won by shooting a .3244. Dale Dillingham took second with a .3303. Tim Humphreys came in third with a .3421. Small group went to Dale Dillingham with a .332. When the numbers were added up the weekend ended with Dale Dillingham as the winner.

Shelby County Deer Hunters thanks everyone for making the Fall Finale a great event. Not only to the shooters, but all the other workers in the background who put a lot of effort and time into this weekend. Special thanks to Dave Simons for managing the back room operations. Please plan to attend the Briar Hail Memorial next June.

Sahuaro: Déjà vu all over again!

By Dale Arenson

After leaving the monthly Sahuaro NBRSA 1,000 yard match in Tucson, Arizona, I was reminded of the recent passing of baseball legend Yogi Berra and all of his funny sayings. Mostly, Déjà vu all over again, feeling like, I know I have been here before!

I wanted to think, hey, it ain't over till it's over, but... It was over so, as far as my shooting was concerned, I just had to figure that I had made too many wrong mistakes, as Yogi would say.

It was a good match with nice weather and a turnout of ten shooters and 18 guns. November temperatures were in the '70's by noon, though it was a little chilly in the morning at our 7:00 A.M. start time. Winds didn't get over about 12 mph for pretty much the whole match.

We paired up five at a time on the shooting line, I was happy that I ended up on a bench next to Ross Herrick, since you can observe a lot just by watching. Out of ten shooters in light gun, our top five shooters of the day all put in sub-MOA aggregates. I thought my 5.75" agg was pretty good, but Ross stepped up to the plate and hit a 4.58" aggregate, with groups of 3.87", 5.37" and a 4.50"!

Not only did Ross shoot the smallest group in light gun, but also the highest single target scores with two 50's in a row. His final score was 146-4x, only dropping four points.

Yogi used to say that "the future ain't what it used to be", I was beginning to wonder if that went for the present too, at least when you are shooting against Ross Herrick!

The first three shooters in heavy had respectable sub-MOA agg's, But once again, heavy gun had a similar result with Ross taking the aggregate group with a 7.89", with his smallest group being a 6.0". Remember, that's ten shoots per target in heavy gun. His heavy gun score prevailed as well, only dropping 15 points for a 285-3x. Jon Benz however came flying in from left field and shot the highest single target score in heavy with a 99-3x. Nice shooting Jon. That'll keep Ross in his place!

Now you see the reason for the déjà vu. Ross Herrick wins it all, (almost) again. We all felt like... no, we knew we had been here before. But we tried to take it with a "Grin" of salt. (another Yogi-ism).

It gets late early out here, so we all pitched in to put things away, drove down to the fork in the road and took it... To Cindy Lou's for hamburgers and cold drinks. Looking forward to next month when we each know (in our own minds) that we are really going to give Ross a run for his money.

A Tribute to Lowell Hottenstein

by Joe Krupa

It is with a heavy heart that we celebrate the life of Lowell James Hottenstein. Lowell was a hard-working man from small town Michigan with a farming background. He also spent nearly 40 years working in the GM plant in Toledo as a millwright. Both are physically hard and took a heavy toll on his body. I got to know Lowell about 17 years ago; actually I knew Kenny first. But, in shooting where Kenny was, so was Lowell. It was about more than just shooting with Lowell; Benchrest was his “extended family”. Both Families were extremely important to him. And he made friends throughout the World because of this.

Lowell would always say that Benchrest was good to him. I would contend that Lowell was better for Benchrest. You never heard the man say one bad thing about anyone; even when he should have. And he was always very humble about what he did. Lowell didn't like to talk about himself and down-played his accomplishments. When I interviewed Lowell for an article that I wrote about him and Kenny in Precision Shooting magazine a few years ago, he talked more about Kenny and his accomplishments than his own. Kenny winning the Super Shoot in 2000 was one of the proudest moments in Lowell's shooting career. Many of you may remember the 2007 Super Shoot; Lowell dueled it out with Steve Robbins and Kent Harshman; eventually finishing second to Steve; Lowell told me that he was just happy that his bullets won. This was just after his grandson Max succumbed to cancer. Some of you may remember that Lowell won the first day at LV100 (along with LV Grand). We were loading together and when he was told that the finishes were posted and he won, he started crying and said that “he knew that Max was up in Heaven watching over him and that is why he won”. That was the kind of family man he was.

Lowell was a great shooting competitor. He was a two-time medalist with the US World Team (gold in New Zealand and Bronze in Sweden) and 2nd in the 2007 S/S. He won countless Eastern Region Two-guns and was also inducted in the ER Hall of Fame in 2008. He was a “force to be reckoned with” any time he went to the firing line. Lowell would talk about the “scratch and claw” mentality about shooting. Don't quit, even when things looked bleak. It's never over until it's over. You want to talk about “winning ugly”. Once at a match at Holton, Lowell shot four shots on a target at HV100 and took a one-inch penalty. I remember him coming back to the loading area and saying “I think I just messed up. I got to try harder.” So his idea of “trying harder” was to shoot a World Record in LV and actually winning the two-gun; with a one-inch penalty!

And even after he got the news of the cancer, he was making plans and looking forward to the 2016 shooting season. Heck, as recent as a week before he passed he was talking about shooting the Shamrock and the Hog Roast, and trying to make the US Team again to go back to New Zealand. Lowell was known not only as a great competitor, but also arguably the World's best bullet maker for the Benchrest sport. With deference to the Eubers, Bart and all the others out there pulling the handle, Lowell's' bullets are most likely the most prolific and successful that Benchrest has known in recent years, if not in the history of the sport. I can speak for how using these bullets could take a shooter to the next level and get them competitive enough to compete at the Nationals. It is unfathomable to count how many World Records, Hall of Fame points and, National and World Championships that were won with these. I know that some of us here today wouldn't have gotten into the Hall of Fame without shooting them. I would contend that Lowell spent more effort getting others into the Hall of Fame than he did trying to get himself in.

Many shooters thought it was that magic die, but I can tell you that it was more the man's experience and touch and his attention to detail that made them shoot. And he did this well for decades throughout his career. Once Lowell and I were helping Phil Sauer's widow clean out Phil's basement shop after he passed. I found a box of Lowell's boattails that were made in 1988. I took them with me to Worlds in South Africa in 2009 to have something to practice with. At the end of that week during the 300-meter event on Saturday I gave a handful to New Zealander Ian Owen; who proceeded to shoot a four-tenths group at 300-meters, a World record that still stands to this day with 21 year old bullets!

One thing that continued to amaze me about Lowell and his bullet making, and contrary to what some people may think, was that Lowell put the best of what he made into his customers' boxes. What he shot at most of the matches were the culls. And yet he still shot extremely well. When I asked him about this, all he told me was that his customers deserve the best chance they can to win. Lowell was very optimistic about his new die and the jackets that he was now using; this combination was just starting to take off. I know that L'll Joe Hynes got four points with them at St. Louis this past Nationals and Canadian Pete Smith shot two back-to back ones at 200 yards this Fall at WWCCA (a .195 and .143). Lowell was very proud of that. He handed me a handful a few weeks after his first run and I used them to shoot 19X's at 200 yards! These things fueled his optimism.

Besides just the bullet-making and the shooting, there was much more to the man. I talked to Lowell almost every week; and often several times a week for that last 15 years. I was fortunate enough to have traveled with him. You get to know a little about someone when you spend time doing that. Here are a few things that many of you may not have known...Lowell was also a farmer; doing work on the family farm after work hours for many years. Lowell liked 1960's muscle cars. He talked fondly about his 1961 Oldsmobile Starfire; something we had in common since I had a 1962 Starfire. Many miles were passed on trips talking about what were the best muscle cars of the 1960's. I was a "Ford Guy" and of course, Lowell was a "GM man". Before Benchrest, Lowell was a very accomplished trap shooter. I know this sounds like blasphemy, but I still run into trapshooters in the area who still remember his good shooting. Lowell also liked colt 1911 .45's. In fact, he told me he often "relaxed" when he wanted to get away from making bullets by reloading .45's and we'd split them. He was a big Red Wings and Detroit Tigers fan. He also suffered through the Detroit Lions like all of us around here. Lowell was the greatest example of a TRUE FAMILY MAN. I learned more about how to be a good husband and father from him than anyone else in my life.

Lowell was a Vietnam combat veteran; I mean a "true combat veteran"; you could tell because he never really talked about it. 199th light infantry and later 1st Air Cavalry. One of the things he liked about going to the Shamrock was that he could stop at Ft. Benning, GA and look around. One time when he did talk about his time in Combat, all he said was that he was a really scared 21-year old and thought he wasn't going to make it out of a bad situation when he was in Cambodia. He said in so many words that he made a promise to the Man Upstairs to live a Christian life and try to do the best he could for his family. Those who knew him know that he kept that promise.

I searched hard for words to sum up how this man lived his life. Finally, the only thing that seemed appropriate is something attributed to Mother Theresa of Calcutta. Now, it may seem a little odd to think of "Lowell" and "Mother Theresa" in the same sentence, but somehow it just made sense to me. I would like to read this now and please see if you have the same thoughts on how Lowell lived his life. Some of you may recognize the Martina McBride rendition. Maybe we can all take something from this:

1. Give the best you have, and it will never be enough. Give your best anyway.
2. If you are kind, people may accuse you of selfish, ulterior motives. Be kind anyway.
3. If you are honest and sincere, people may deceive you. Be honest and sincere anyway.
4. If you are successful, you will win some unfaithful friends and some genuine enemies. Succeed anyway.
5. What you spend years creating, others could destroy overnight. Create anyway.
6. People are often unreasonable, irrational, and self-centered. Forgive them anyway.
7. The good you do today, will often be forgotten. Do "good" anyway.
8. You see, in the final analysis, it is between you and God. It was never between you and them anyway.

Lowell's "Final Analysis" came last week. He gave more than he took in every aspect of his life. Lowell would want us all to be joyful in celebrating not only his life, but every aspect of our own lives. We can be assured that he is up there hanging out with his little buddy Max and smiling down on all of us today. We should all take some happiness in that.

Hunter Match

December 13, 2015

Again we lucked out with the weather on Sunday. It called for wind and cold temps but it turned out to be cool with a little swishing wind. Beginning in 2016, we now have Hunter matches on the 4th week of the month. We had a new shooter, Lou Meiss join us for this match. Welcome Lou and congratulations to John Seines on placing first in both yardages to make an easy win in the hunter grand. Thank you to everyone for coming.

New Group World Record

Congratulations are in order to Mr Dave Dowd on setting a new Group World Record in the Unlimited Grand. Dave shot a tiny .1330 in Unlimited Class 5, 5-shot groups at 100-200 yards. The previous record of .1486 reigned for over 3 years and was set by Eric Stanton.

Dave's new World Record was set on August 8, 2015 at Minnetonka Benchrest in Minnesota.

Dave began shooting benchrest back in 1997. For this world record, he used a Tony Larson rail gun; one of three in existence. Scope was a Bausch & Lomb 36, Chuck Miller bullets with 65 grains, Federal 205 primer, BAT action, Krieger barrel that was smithed by Gary Ocock and a Jewell trigger. Dave said the conditions were moderate at the range that day with a little switch.

Very nicely done, Dave. Congratulations again on your fine achievement.

In January's issue on page 17 the Gulf Coast Championship was stated as authored by Larry Baggett. This article was actually written by Glenn Chism .

NBRSA Targets

Some changes are coming with regard to the group and score paper used by our member clubs for sanctioned matches. Orders will continue to be placed through the Business Office as usual. As we transition to Targets Online, your target orders may appear different than what have traditionally come to expect. The paper you receive may be from Orrville Printing or it may be from Targets Online, our new vendor. The paper you receive, from either company has been tested and approved by both NBRSA shooters and the Board. In addition to benchrest paper, Targets Online is offering our members an additional 15% discount on their other products by using the code NBRSA2016. Details are on their website at targetsonline.com.
